

PRESIDENT CERTAIN TO VETO MEASURE

WOOL BILL PASSED YESTERDAY BY THE SENATE WILL NEVER HAVE CHIEF EXECUTIVES APPROVAL.

COMBINATION IS URGED

House Democrats and Insurgents To Combine To Defeat the President's Wishes As To the Wool Tariff.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Washington, July 28.—The President today was urged by several prominent republican leaders of the Senate and House to veto any wool revision bill that was likely to be agreed upon. The congressional advanced the idea that the senate coalition of insurgents and democrats will attempt to put the president "in the hole" politically.

The executive disapproval of the measure was designed for such purpose they told the President, and could not work to his discredit.

The intimations are stronger today the President will not hesitate to use the veto, although he was silent on the subject.

Amid applause the house today received the compromise wool bill. The bill was laid on the speaker's table.

General sentiment seemed to favor a compromise between the La Follette and the defeated house bill.

Cotton Bill.

The discussion of the cotton revision bill began in the House today. Chairman Underwood explained the amount of revenue that would be produced by the bill and the defense of the reductions over the present tariff measure. The bill is expected to be passed by the House on August third.

Attorney Testifies.

Testifying before the Lorimer committee today, Alfred McCordie, an attorney of Chicago, declared that he had reported to him the day it was alleged occurred the noted long distance telephone conversation in which Edward L. Tamm is said to have stated that he was going to "split" with all the money necessary to elect Lorimer.

It is not necessary for ex-Congressman Tamm to appear before the Lorimer committee to deny the statement connecting him with the alleged lobby in interests of the Chicago Fireproof Magazine.

Tamm requested an opportunity to submit himself to an examination, but the committee holds him not implicated according to a telegram Tamm today from Chairman Dillingham.

RECIPROCITY PACT ROUNDLY DENOUNCED

La Follette Attacks Canadian Measure in Magazine Declaring That It is a Piece of Private Legislation.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Madison, July 28.—Under the caption "whose victory," Senator La Follette denounces the Canadian reciprocity pact in the current issue of his magazine, declaring it is a "piece of private legislation enacted into law in supreme obedience to the President's mandate." La Follette says it is a victory for the railroads, the millers, packers, and newspaper publishers, the big industrial and transportation interests, but not a victory for the ultimate consumer.

According to La Follette, the treaty will not reduce the cost of living, nor touch "the outrageous" of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law. "The editorial concludes, 'It is not, Mr. Ultimate Consumer, a victory for you.'"

ELECTRICAL TRUST SUBMITS A DECREE

Shows Signs of Weakening Before Government Suit for Dissolution of Alleged Combination.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., July 28.—Attorneys for the electrical "trust" submitted to Attorney General Wickham a decree which it is said they were willing to have entered against the alleged combination in the government's suit for dissolution. The significance of this is that the "trust" is willing to give up. A modification of the proposition may be accepted by the government.

Mississippi's Lively Campaign.

Meridian, Miss., July 28.—Mississippi's strenuous and picturesque senatorial campaign, which will culminate in the State primary next Tuesday, was further enlivened here today by a number of scenes at which many heads of oxen were trampled and cut.

The affair was arranged by the opposition to ex-Governor Vardaman, who is one of the leading senatorial candidates, and was intended to offset the big demonstration of July 4, when eighty head of oxen, drawing a wagon in which was seated ex-Governor Vardaman, was a feature.

UNCLE SAM IS WILLING.

BELGIUM WELCOMES QUEEN WILHEMINA

Queen of Netherlands, Accompanied by Prince Henry and Infant Princess, Given Cordial Reception by Brussels, Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Brussels, July 28.—The arrival of Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, accompanied by Prince Henry and the infant Princess Juliana, at the Belgian capital today, for which preparations had been made in advance, was the occasion for an immense and cordial demonstration of good will toward the neighboring state. From the time the royal visitors crossed the frontier, huge crowds welcomed them at every station, and arriving here, they were met by King Albert and practically the whole of the official body. Several days will be given over to the entertainment of the visitors. In political circles the visit of the Dutch Queen and her consort is regarded as of no little significance, especially at the present time when unusual efforts are being put forth to bring about a good understanding between Belgium and the Netherlands. The aggressive policy of Germany, silently but steadily pursued will it be believed, lead the two countries to establish a defensive alliance for their common safety.

TO INFORM FARMERS ON LATEST METHODS

Plans for Spreading Agricultural Knowledge on a Broader Scale Planned by State University.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., July 28.—Plans to spread agricultural knowledge among the farmers of Wisconsin on a broad or scale have been outlined by the new agricultural editor of the college of agriculture, University of Wisconsin, John V. Beatty. His assistant, Ralph E. Hodges, of Cedar Falls, Ia., arrived last night and will join the faculty as assistant in agricultural journalism. Mr. Beatty is a graduate of the Ames agricultural college, Ames, Ia., and came here from Springfield, Mass., where he was connected with the Orange Judd Farmer for three years.

To Issue Bulletins.

The press department will continue to issue regularly three kinds of bulletins. One is a bulletin containing information for farmers. Another gives the results of research work by the agricultural professors, and is intended principally for scientific workers, and the third bulletin contains information for the elementary instruction of farmers. As an example of the thorough manner in which the college seeks to enlighten the people of the state, it published an edition of 50,000 copies of a recent bulletin on the Babcock milk test.

WILL PLANT GRASS SEED ALONG CANAL

Attempt to be Made to Prevent Sliding of Banks, Especially in Culebra Cut, by Planting Special Variety of Seed.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Washington, July 28.—Under the direction of an expert of the Smithsonian Institution, an attempt is being made along the banks of the Panama Canal to prevent further slides by planting grass seed. Announcement of the experiment was made today by officers of the Isthmian Canal Commission.

A special variety of seed, developed by the Agricultural Department after long study and experimentation, is being used. It is hoped that the roots of the grass will form a network holding the soil in its position.

Most of the planting will be done in the Culebra cut, where trouble has been experienced with slides of earth into the big ditch. Engineers declare the slides due to the fact that the layer of soil is very thin, and rests upon smooth rock ledges.

ADVOCATE A STATE BANK IN ENGLAND

Failure of Banking Institution With Many Small Investors Has Started Agitation For Government Bank.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

London, July 28.—The recent failure of the Birbeck bank has started an agitation in favor of the state's entrance into the banking business. The Birbeck did an enormous business with small depositors and its collapse tied up $50,000,000 chiefly belonging to exactly the people who could least afford to lose it. Fifty per cent was, indeed, paid out within a few days after the institution closed its doors, but even this was insufficient to prevent a large number of small bankruptcies and an immense amount of suffering.

Agitators in favor of the state bank say that things of this kind should not be permitted but that they cannot be helped so long as banking remains in private hands. It is even suggested that the government take over the ruined Birbeck, pay off its debts in full and run it in future as a public institution. This will certainly be taken up in Parliament soon and it is not impossible that something tangible may come of the broad proposal.

The bank of England and other central banking institutions throughout Europe though affiliated with the respective governments under which they operate, are nevertheless private institutions, strictly speaking. Nor are they banks with which it is possible for small depositors to do business. The English postal savings bank is not designed to facilitate commercial transactions and is therefore useless from the standpoint of business men even of the smallest type.

NEW PLAN HAS CUT EXPENSES OF NAVY

Economy Competition Among Warships Has Resulted in Reducing Expenses For Ship Maintenance.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Washington, July 28.—According to a statement issued by the Navy Department the results of an economy competition among the warships of the Navy, a saving of $107,874.08 in the expenditures for ship maintenance has been effected during the six months period in which the test has been in operation.

Definite money allotments were made to each ship run by the various bureaus in charge of the departments of work on board ship, such as ordnance, steam engineering, construction and repair, and supplies and accounts. Large percentages of saving were made, by the great majority of the vessels, while only a very few exceeded their allotments.

The Missouri led the battleships in percentage of saving, with 75.7 per cent. The North Dakota was the last in the list with a saving of 5.9 per cent.

K. OF C. PICNIC WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

GAMES, MUSIC, DANCING AND PICNIC LUNCH AFFORDS PLEASURE TO MANY AT YOST'S PARK YES. TERDAY.

OVER 600 ATTENDED

Knights and Their Friends From Deloit, Janesville and Neighboring Towns Have Good Time Together—Baseball Match A Feature.

With the weather and other conditions all that could be desired and the crowd of fully six hundred visitors in a mood to have a good time, the Knights of Columbus carried out their program at Yost's park yesterday afternoon without a hitch and all who attended felt that the affair was a grand success.

The crowd began to gather about 1 o'clock and every car from this city and Deloit brought its load of pleasure seekers. When the ball game between the aggregations from the two cities was begun at about 3 o'clock there were fully 500 people on the grounds and much enthusiasm was aroused over this event.

The players on both sides were selected from the membership of the two councils which were conducting the picnic. When the Deloit team started out with a score at the beginning of the first inning as the result of a safe hit and costly fumbles on the part of the local players it seemed that the honors would be easily won by the Line City aggregation. These results seemed all the more secure when the locals failed to connect in their part of the same inning and their opponents rubbed the score by another point by the same kind of playing in the second. Honors were about evenly divided in the third round and the Janesville Knights seemed to be getting in form for a better game.

The local team got down to business at the close of the fourth inning and made two runs, making the score a tie. Then the battle became still more interesting and the fans on the side lines and in the grand stand did their best to cheer up their respective favorites.

Henry Mills of Deloit, came in for his share of attention especially when he stepped up to bat. He was after the ball with a determination worthy of a boxer and at times the local men held their breath in fear lest one of his mighty swings would accidentally meet the ball and deposit it in the river. Knickerbocker, must have had similar fear for the hard hitter wasted Mills' bat and the hard hitter wasted his energy on the air, excepting in the sixth inning when he succeeded in driving the ball, only to drive it into the own side, causing him to be called out.

In a series of well placed hits in the last of the fifth the Janesville team lifted the bases before any of their men were down and it looked as though the Deloiters would be swept away. Barnes, pitcher for that side succeeded in holding them down however, and at the critical moment prevented them from realizing the hopes that they were entertaining. By one good safe hit, however, the score was shifted one point in favor of the locals and with the bases full again the other two who came to bat were quickly sent to the bench. Heffernan who tried to steal from third was caught in the act and spotted by Gerrity, catcher for Deloit.

After the thrilling game and the line City men could scarcely locate the ball and when they did it was only for short hits or easy flies. At no time after that was there any grave danger that the score would increase in their favor and to him and the Deloiters most of the credit for the victory is due. A few costly fumbles on the part of the other team helped much to raise the score for the Janesville team and by their good hitting in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings they showed that they outclassed their opponents.

In the finish of the seventh which was the final inning of the game the local team worked in another run and made the final score 4 to 2 in their favor. Batteries for the two teams were:

Deloit: Burns, Barnes and Gerrity. Janesville: Hatters and Cronin.

Following the ball game came the field events and the losers of the hitting contest went into this with a determination to redeem themselves and win by points the cup, which they had considered as within their reach before the ball game began. Again their hopes seemed to be doomed to a sudden blight when Joe Connell the fleet-footed representative of the local Knights scooped both the 50 and 100 yard dashes by good safe margins. Likewise, the blight seemed to grow when Plummer captured first in the shot put and in throwing the ball. In the latter event he outdistanced his best competitor about twenty feet. Mills of Deloit, came in for the second place in this event.

While these events were taking place on the ball field the orchestra was playing in the park and many of the younger people were having a jolly time in dancing on the floor which was recently fitted up under the trees, or playing games in the park. At about six o'clock the crowd began to form into little groups in different sections of the grounds and the center of attraction for each gathering was an array of well filled baskets, whose contents were spread out on the grass or on tables provided for that purpose beneath the trees and all joined in to partake of a good, old fashioned picnic supper that was enjoyed very much of the picnic was disposed of with entire satisfaction to all those who were fortunate enough to belong to any of the little gatherings. The time was spent in dancing and in those enjoyments which we all know and enjoy on an occasion of that kind. While the older people visited together and enjoyed recounting tales of their own younger days the younger ones took part in the dance.

Cars that came from both directions between the hours of six and eight were loaded with many younger people, who went out to spend the evening together. Many of those who had come earlier in the day were returning to their homes at this time and their places were well filled by the newcomers. Considering the number of those who were coming and going during the afternoon and evening it is safe to say that the total number of visitors must be between six and seven hundred.

That the affair was a grand success is attested by the fact that all those who were present express the wish that the custom of having a joint picnic will continue each year. The members of the two councils here and at Deloit, consider this of the greatest benefit to both, because it fosters that brotherly feeling, which they are all working for and brings the people from the two cities into closer relations. At the same time it affords them an opportunity to get out into the country and enjoy a good outing that gives pleasure to all who care for a wholesome relaxation from the cares of city life.

One of Two Boy Bandits That Shot and Killed Harry Cheesebro At Deloit Passed Away.

Charles Alldredge one of the two boy bandits of Deloit who shot and killed Policeman Harry Cheesebro last winter, after the latter had arrested them for a hold-up in a hotel, died last night in the Minnesota state prison at Stillwater of acute tuberculosis. Alldredge, who was sixteen years old, was serving a life sentence for the murder of Cheesebro and had been in prison less than a year. Cheesebro, the murdered officer, was a former Janesville man and a brother of Mrs. O. E. Meyer.

ACCIDENTS PREVENT VIOLATION OF LAW

Three Threshing Engines Break Down Near the City Last Night and Are Forestalled in Breking of New Ordinance.

A series of peculiar coincidences occurred last evening, with regard to attempted violations of the new ordinance prohibiting threshing machines from traversing the brick pavements and macadam streets of Janesville unless heavy planks are laid to travel over, when three engines, which were headed toward this city from the south, and for which Chief Appleby was waiting to warn them of the prohibitions, all broke down and failed to get to town.

About four o'clock yesterday afternoon the chief received a telephone message that the first was moving toward the city and would probably enter by way of Deloit avenue onto South Main street and would probably reach here in the evening. The chief watched for the machine but about nine o'clock word was received that the engine had broken down a mile and a half in the country.

Word was also received that another engine would attempt the same feat, but this met with an accident and was left a mile out in the country.

The third catastrophe to traction engines occurred about half past nine o'clock when Charles Stoenmaker's engine and separator was struck by a street car between Thiel's brewery and the Spring Brook cement bridge. The car was but slightly damaged by the collision, but the engine was broken and twisted the rods connecting with the boiler, being bent out of shape. It will require a complete overhauling to repair it.

will give a most interesting lecture on the famous Cameron Dam affair.

ADMISSION 25c.

ACTUAL WORK WILL START ON MONDAY

HIAWATHA WATER COMPANY TO ERECT BOTTLING WORKS AND OFFICE AT THEIR SPRINGS.

WILL SHIP BY RIVER?

Flat-boat and Tug Used to Start With. Later Northwestern Will Probably Bridge the River.

Actual work of construction of the bottling works and office building of the Hiawatha Water company at their property north of the city, formerly known as the Burr Springs, will start on Monday. Hayes and company, Minneapolis contractors, will arrive Sunday night in Janesville to start work on Monday.

The present building will be but the first of several that the company will erect on their property and will be of cement construction, 120 feet long by 75 feet wide, with huge bottling and storage sheds in the rear, bringing the total depth to 150 feet.

The building will face the river and the exterior will be of cement with Bedford stone trimmings, one story high. The interior finishings will be of hard wood for the offices and of tile for the bottling rooms, which will make it possible to clean them easily with a hose.

For the present the company will ship their finished product to Janesville in flat-boats hauled by a special tug, but later expect to have shipping facilities through the Northwestern railroad which will bridge the river and run a sidetrack to the factory.

The plant will have a capacity of thirty thousand bottles a day and will be worked to its fullest capacity from the start. Shipping depots will be arranged for in Chicago, New Orleans, New York, St. Louis and western points and agencies established to handle the distribution of the water.

When the springs were being operated by the present company some years ago shipments were made to Mexico, South Africa, Australia, France, Egypt, Constantinople, Germany and England, as well as to many eastern points. The company already has several agencies under contract and it is expected that others will be organized as soon as bottling actually begins.

Louis N. Park of Minneapolis, one of the owners of the property and a director in the company, is in the city already and others of the company are expected in a few days. The total cost of the building and equipment is estimated at some thirty thousand dollars and it is expected that the advertising campaign will spread the fame of Janesville over all the civilized continents of the world.

It is hoped that the building will be under roof by early fall and that shipments can begin this year. The demand for the Hiawatha water is considerable and the company which has been recently re-organized, expects to have all they can do for some months to come without creating even any new territory.

Not the Only Pebble.

The little daughter of a woman ambitious to get into society burst into the kitchen, where the colored servant sat peeling potatoes.

"Oh, Mother!" she cried, "mam-ma's got her name in the Blue Book!"

"What's that?" returned the servant.

"In de blue book? Dat am nothin'. Ah kot mine in de red book."

"In the red book?"

"Yus, in de red book. Dat am de color up de city directory, ain't it?"—Judge.

Y. M. C. A. JUNIORS BACK FROM DELAVAN

Party of Boys Returned Last Evening From Two Weeks' Outing. Well Pleased With Vacation.

Some thirty or more boys, members of the Junior classes at the Y. M. C. A., returned last night from their two weeks' outing at Delavan lake. The time passed most quickly and each youngster came back with a plentiful coat of tan and a memory brim full of the experiences of the lake. There was not a day passed without its special feature and pleasure after pleasure was crowded into the short time allowed for the outing. Not one accident marred the entire two weeks which is a credit to the boys' behavior as well as to the management. Home presented added charms, in many respects, after camp life filled with its excitement and work.

RUSH AND BUSTLE CONSTANT STRAIN

American Life One to Strain Both Mind and Body.

The rush and bustle of American life is a constant strain on both mind and body. Gradually the human machine wears out under this unnatural strain and nervous debility results. Statistics show that half the people of the United States are in a rundown nervous condition.

A man or woman in this condition can get little happiness or success out of life. They feel tired all the time, have no energy or ambition and are gloomy, timid and despondent. They do not sleep well or eat well or feel well and life instead of being a pleasure seems more like a burden.

Are you one of these half sick, listless, nervous people? If you are you know that there is a tonic now being sold that has brought back the old energy and pleasure in life to thousands who have tried it. The name of the tonic is Tona Vita. It is being introduced in this country by a number of physicians. It has been pronounced the greatest medicine ever before sold to the public. In each city there is an agent for Tona Vita who will refund the purchase price if the tonic fails to give you complete and entire satisfaction. Let Tona Vita build you up and bring back your strength and vitality. You will be astonished how quickly it acts. The very first dose will convince you what a great medicine it is.

Lee's Rhubarb Laxative is used as an assistant to Tona Vita in cases of chronic constipation. It is a family medicine pleasant to the taste, containing the splendid laxative qualities of rhubarb. Ask your physician about rhubarb and see if he does not tell you it is the best possible laxative for children.

The Smith Pharmacy have the agency for these two great medicines in Janesville.

SPORT WORLD

ROW TOMORROW FOR THE WORLD TITLE

Sculling Match Between Richard Arnet and Harry Pearce To Take Place on Paramatta River At Sydney, N. S. W.

Sydney, N. S. W., July 28.—The sculling match for the championship of the world between Richard Arnet of Australia and Harry Pearce of New Zealand will be rowed tomorrow on the Paramatta River. The contest will take place over a course of three and a half miles. This stakes are $2,500 a side. Arnet is the present holder of the title. He is generally regarded as the greatest sculler the world has ever produced. He is twenty-eight years old and a native of New Zealand. As a sculler he is known in New Zealand and Australia as one of the best rowers, while he has been equally successful on the track. His chief success in that line was in the Sydney "thousands," the most valuable race in the world.

In 1906 he decided to take up sculling, and on Jan. 26, 1907, competed in the allcomers, best and best hand sculling. That event was won by Pearce, with twenty-five seconds start Arnet being second. The following month Arnet competed in the Irish handicap, and received thirty-one seconds start. He had in the meantime made such improvement that he won easily.

The success caused him to be brought back to the scratch mark in the subsequent handcaps, but such term did he show that both at the Victoria regatta, on Nov. 11, 1907, and Corral regatta, nine days later he won. At about this time he defeated Charles Towns, who subsequently was beaten by Webb for the world's championship. On Aug. 1, 1909, he sculled Harry Pearce on the Paramatta and won easily, and then on Dec. 15, 1909, defeated William Webb on the Vaucluse for the world's title. Shortly after he met Webb in a return engagement over the same course and was again successful. In the early part of last year he successfully defended his title against Welch and last August he defeated Barry, the English champion, on the Zambezi River in Rhodesia.

English Football Team Coming London, July 28.—With the cheers of many enthusiastic ringing in their ears, sixteen members of the Corinthian Football Club sailed away on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain today for America where they are to engage in a series of gridiron contests during the next two months. The team will land in Quebec, and will cross Canada to the Pacific, playing in a number of the principal cities, such as Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Calgary and Vancouver. In the return journey the team will make a detour into the United States, where matches have been arranged at Chicago, Philadelphia and New York.

National Regatta at Saratoga, Saratoga, N. Y., July 28.—The third regatta of Saratoga Lake were raffled today by the daring shells of several oarsmen who have gathered here for the thirty-first annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, several elimination events of which were contested this afternoon. Tomorrow will come the finals and the long-looked-for championships, which will bring together many of the foremost oarsmen of both the East and West and a few from Canada.

PIONEER OF COUNTY DIED EARLY TODAY

William M. Clark Passed Away at His Home in Edgerton at an Early Hour This Morning, Aged 70 Years.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Edgerton, July 28.—William M. Clark, a pioneer of Rock county, died this morning at 4:30 at his residence on Albion street. The deceased was a native of Ohio and for twenty-five years ago he moved with his family to Edgerton, which place has since been his home.
He was a blacksmith by trade but has not followed that vocation for years, being abundantly supplied with this world's goods. He devoted his time principally to fishing for pasture.
He is survived by the widow and one daughter, Mrs. M. J. Schmidt, who also resides here. He was 70 years of age and the immediate cause of his death is heart trouble incident to old age. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at the late home at four o'clock, conducted by Rev. G. K. MacLennan. Interment will be in Russell cemetery.

Andrew Polat.
Andrew Polat, a resident of this city for the past year and a half, coming here from the state of Washington, died this morning at an early hour. For some time he has suffered with cancer of the stomach and an operation at the Jamesville hospital three weeks ago proved of no relief. He was forty-eight years of age and is survived by his wife. The funeral services will take place Sunday afternoon at the late home, conducted by Rev. J. C. Spillman.

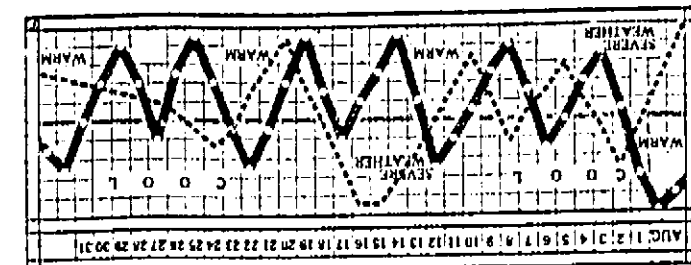

Personal.
Olo Anderson spent the day yesterday in Jamestown on business.
Mrs. R. P. Yates, after an extended visit here with her sister, Mrs. L. E. Thurston, has departed for her home in Sleepy Eye, Minn.
Miss Maude Harrison is out again, having been confined with illness for the past four weeks.
John and Charles Mooney of Broadhead, visited here yesterday.
Mrs. G. L. Shaffer and three children arrived last night from La Crosse for a month's visit with her sister, Mrs. Clarence Bowen, northeast of Edgerton.

William Davis of this city was severely bitten above the ankle yesterday, by a dog while Mr. Davis was doing some plumbing work on the William Kruckenberg farm two miles northeast of this city. The dog is a big, savage one and the wound inflicted on the man may prove serious.

The lecture to be given last night by Clarence Dietz of Cameron Dam, did not materialize, not enough people being interested to come out.
C. F. Mahlett is in possession of a five-passenger Mitchell touring car which he purchased of P. F. Burgoyne. Miss Leo Thompson has gone to Virginia to visit a schoolmate. She is accompanied to that place by Miss Mildred Doty, who will visit her aunt, Mrs. F. P. McIntosh, there.
Dolores Nicholson is here from St. Louis on a visit at the parental home.

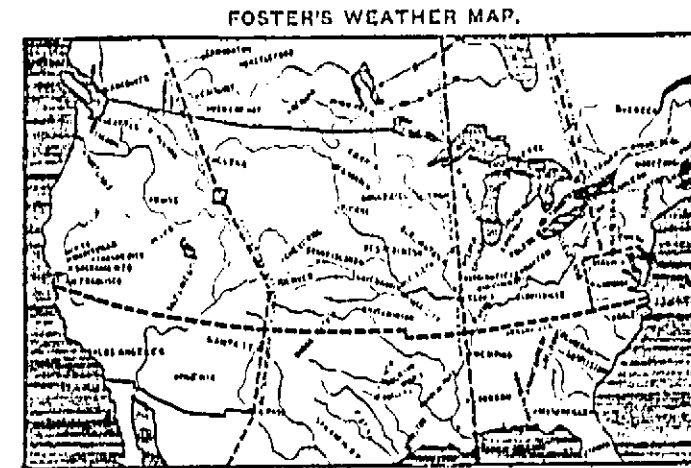

Concert Program.
Following is the program for Saturday night's open air band concert:
1. Who Are You With Tonight?
2. Spanish Wedding Serenade.
3. Twilight Hour—Overture.
4. That Tired Rag.
5. Intermzzo Stufione.
6. Selection from Midnight Sons.
7. Nourahma Waltz.
8. On Wisconsin—March.

Traeger, Jas. A. Carroll, Chicago.

Fights Scheduled for Tonight.
Matt Wells vs. Willie Moody, 6 rounds, at Philadelphia.
Jack Roberts vs. Danny Goodman, 25 rounds, near Chicago.
HAS RETURNED FROM TRIP THROUGH THE NORTHWEST
Harold P. Campbell of the Jamesville Vulcanizing company has returned from an extended trip through the northwest and has again assumed charge of the company which is located on North Main street.

August temperatures will average higher than usual except in Texas. Drouth will be the general rule on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, in Canada and the States north of latitude 38. Except that fair rains will occur over about one-fourth of the Sections mentioned, doud rains will occur in three-fourths of the Southern States except on the Coast.

In above chart the treble line represents normal temperatures and rainfall. The heavy line with round white spots is temperature forecasts. Where it goes above treble line temperatures are expected to be higher. Where it goes below treble line temperatures will be lower. The broken zigzag line is rainfall forecast. As it goes higher indicates greater probability of rain and where it goes lower the reverse. Dates are for Meridian 20. Count one or two days earlier for west of line and as much later for east of it because weather features move from west to east.

Broken lines separate map into 8 weather districts named North Pacific Slope, South Pacific Slope, Northwest, Southwest, Lake, Southeast, Northeast and Washington. Address Foster's Weather Bureau, Washington, D. C.

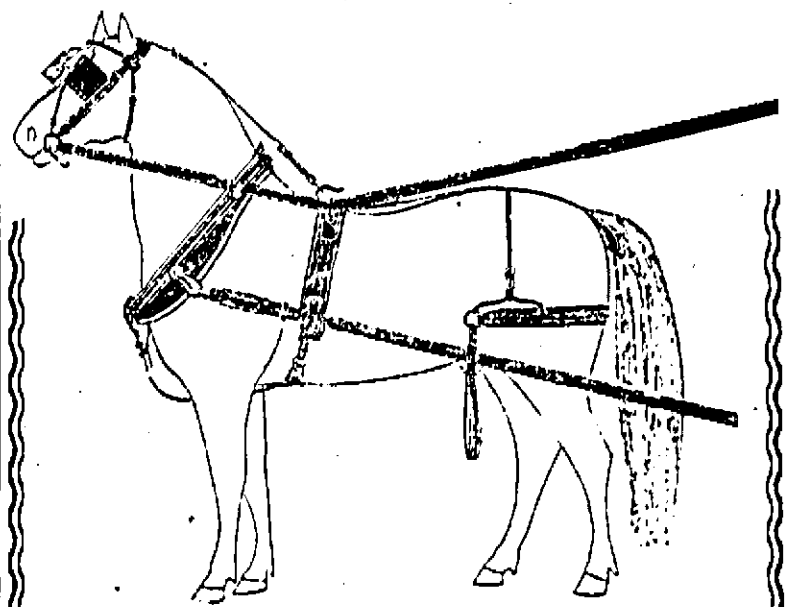

Last bulletin gave forecast of disturbance to cross continent July 29 to August 2, warm wave July 28 to August 1, cool wave July 31 to August 11. This disturbance will cause a high temperature wave, severe weather, a great fall in temperature and one of three rain periods of the month. But not much rain may be expected.
Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about August 3, cross Pacific slope by close of August 4th; great central valleys 5th to 7th, eastern sections, August 8th. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about August 3, great central valleys, 5th, eastern sections, 7th. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about August 6; great central valleys, 8th; eastern sections 10th.
This disturbance will be only of moderate force with temperatures averaging lower than usual, not much rain, with generally too dry for crops that mature late in the season. Not enough heat to rapidly mature the corn crop and not enough moisture to give of long range weather forecasts. Good news to them is the fact that soon these forecasts will be given out much longer in advance.
A great detriment to this progress has been that orthodox scientists in Canada and the states take so little interest in weather records, partly due to lack of 1871. Those records are laid away in Canada and the states and hard to reach.

Never before did those who handle grain and other staple products of the farm plantation and orchard, take so much interest in long range weather forecasts. This is highly appreciated by the writer for they are the best judges in the world as to the real value of long range weather forecasts. Good news to them is the fact that soon these forecasts will be given out much longer in advance.
A great detriment to this progress has been that orthodox scientists in Canada and the states take so little interest in weather records, partly due to lack of 1871. Those records are laid away in Canada and the states and hard to reach.

CANADA IS READY.

All eyes are now turned towards Canada and the possible fate of the reciprocity treaty. It is known that hundreds of thousands of dollars are to be contributed for the campaign against its adoption by varied interests, some by the English conservatives, some by the paper and lumber interests of the United States, and some from the exchequers of the protected interests of Canada. However when the situation requires it, Premier Laurier is suave, courteous, complaisant. When the time comes for resolution, close-grappling, straightforward speaking, he is a master of aggressive tactics, personal and partisan. His latest ultimatum to the Conservatives is a prompt vote on reciprocity in Parliament or an immediate appeal to the electors. Certain minor tactical reasons would make it politically opportune to defer such a referendum until fall; but the Liberal leader is not in a mood for hesitancy. He knows that the results of the Conservative leader's recent tour throughout the Dominion have not been encouraging to opponents of reciprocity. The example of non-partisanship and breadth of view shown by President Taft and the Democratic party, and the demonstrated irresistible force of public opinion in the United States, are factors that encourage Premier Laurier to believe in a similar display in Canada. Hence the confidence with which he welcomes a poll of the electors. If Conservative tactics prevent immediate and favorable action by Parliament.

When the future historian of this epoch-making chapter in the history of North America comes to describe and appraise it we believe he will count it fortunate that affairs came under the molding, directing hands of men of the temperament of Taft and Laurier. Much credit is due Secretary Knox and Minister Fielding, but the constructive imagination, the spirit of conciliation, the purpose to make effective and enduring a substantial freedom of trade over a continent, must be credited chiefly to the American President and the Canadian prime minister. Had either of them been selfish in their nationalism, or narrow in their partisanship or in bondage to fear of political consequences the negotiations would not have begun or the agreement been perfected.

BACK TO THE FARM.

In farming the lean years have almost been forgotten in the fat ones and while the cry in certain localities this year is that it will be a bad year, due to drought and other causes, still the sum total of last year and this will make a better average than any two similar years a decade ago.

It will not be necessary much longer to keep up the "back-to-the-farm" propaganda. The Census Bureau's last announcement that the value of farms in the United States has doubled within a decade, although their number has increased by only one-tenth and their acreage by one-twentieth, shows what is going on in the way of cultivating them by more intensive and more thrifty methods. Their value per acre has leaped in ten years from $15.60 to $32.50, an increase of 108 per cent. The value of farm buildings is three-fourths more than in 1900, while farm implements and machinery have increased by two-thirds in value.

The movement back to the farms is becoming irresistible. The increase in the facilities for transit and for communication by telephone and telegraph between the cities and the rural districts, together with the systematic spreading of information about better methods of tilling the soil, account for this agricultural transformation. The new agriculture has come. As its principles are inculcated in the minds of the agriculturists, farm values may, during successive decades, double again and again.

GAS OR ELECTRICITY.

Since the council saw fit to turn down the request of the merchants of the city for better lighting facilities in the downtown district, the question of bringing about the desired results are being canvassed most earnestly by those interested in the scheme. It is conceded, even by those opposed to the project, that the art lights would make a most excellent advertisement for the city. The cry, "Let us have light on the dark streets," is heard on every side, and in this day and age of automobile travel it means much to any community to have good streets and good lighting facilities. Now comes the proposition whether the council might not be induced to accept a similar lighting proposition for Main and Milwaukee streets if presented by the Gas company. Their figures might be less and they could furnish as good a light as that of the Electric company without a doubt. This is the day and age of invention and the gas business has gone ahead as has the electric. The old days of the dim street lights with wavering, flickering glimmers is in the dim age of the past, just as are the days when every freeholder in London must have a torch stuck on his house to light the streets. It is merely a suggestion. Gas or electricity—it makes no difference—but the streets of the downtown district should be better lighted.

THE COMMISSION GOVERNMENT.

It is learned that the friends of the commission form of government are again most anxious to have Janesville vote on this interesting problem, and petitions are being circulated with the end in view of having it submitted to the people for their consideration. Wherever tried it has proved successful and while Janesville rejected the idea some time ago it might be a good thing to look into the matter again.

The question of building more homes for our increasing population is a subject that is interesting the average citizen, particularly if he is seeking a home to live in. The man who owns his own house and lot is not so sympathetic as the man who rents, and as Janesville is a community of persons who own their own homes the matter has been woefully neglected.

Perhaps Germany may believe that it can bluff France and England, but the world knows different. Germany will gracefully withdraw in a day or two, after having tweaked the Lion's tail a bit.

The House of Lords certainly has made a bitter complaint over the demands of the people as personified in the measure by Commons.

Texas has abandoned the ranks of the temperance cause by a few thousand plurality, and Maine is to vote on the same question shortly.

Summer has returned from its vacation trip at last. Now for a few good rains and the crops will respond quickly to the call of nature.

Aeroplane engines of the revolving type consume large quantities of fuel oil, doubtless for that reason noise they make.

Evansville is making grand preparations for its coming fair and all Rock county is interested in its success.

Taft is most pleased to know how Nebraska feels over the Presidential affair.

UNCLE WALT

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)
 By WALT MASON.

He breaks his back and he breaks his heart as he toils away in the changing mart. His griefs have whitened his scanty hair, and he is bent 'neath a load of care. He's an old man now, though in years he's young, and his feet are tired and his knees are sprung; from the treadmill he's never free, and his wife is planning a Yellow Tan. He's sweating blood when the bills fall due, and he walks the floor all the long night through; and he has dreams of a somber day when a shroud's dawn with a shivering heart, he wears his clothes till they fall apart; no rest for him till he'll cross the river—and his wife is heaving a groan of pride. To earn good money and see it go for social frolics—ah, that's the woe! To work like bees in our human hive, to gather honey for wasteful wives! To grind and worry and walk the street, with quivering bosoms and aching feet! It's hard to labor and to sweat in vain—but then the matrons must entertain.

JUDGES NAMED FOR MOTORCYCLE RACES

J. U. Fisher and Albert Gridley Named As Officials of Meet and Third Judge Will Be Selected Later.

Judges and part of the committees who are to act at the motorcycle races at the grounds of the Janesville Park Association, have been named by Chairman Harry McDonald of the race committee. J. U. Fisher and Albert Gridley have been selected as two of the judges and a third will be named later. Charles Cox, Edward Myers and Price James have been named as members of the reception committee and two others will be chosen to act with them. The technical committee is composed of Ray E. Fish, C. T. Stewart, and Perry S. Strunk.

The races are to be given under the rules of the Federation of American Motorists, of which the local motorcycleists have recently become members. A large number of entries are expected from out of town riders and several professionals will take part in the proceedings of the day. Patterson's racing team, composed of motorcycleists from Rockford and elsewhere, will take part in the events and two fifty-second men will represent the Harley-Davidson Company of Milwaukee, but will not be eligible for the prizes. Mr. McDonald is now communicating with the Wisconsin Motor Company at Monroe, and they have a rider on one of their Indian motorcycles.

The sport is quite popular in Holott, Rockford and other nearby cities and it is expected a large number of the amateurs will come to the meet. Although it is the first event of the kind ever held in this city, there is every promise that it will be a tremendous success.

Motto from Ruskin, "Try to get strength of heart to look yourself fairly in the face in mind as well as body. I do not doubt that the mind is a less pleasant thing to look at than the face, and for that very reason it needs more looking at; so always have two mirrors on your toilet table and see that with proper care you dress body and mind before their daily."

MASS MEETING TO BE HELD TUESDAY TO EXPLAIN LAWS

Chairman Crownhart of the Industrial Commission To Be Here Next Week.

Secretary John Goller of the Superintendents Association today received a letter from the secretary of the newly created Industrial Commission stating that Chairman Crownhart of that commission would be most pleased to accept the invitation to come to Janesville and suggested the date to be fixed for next Tuesday evening. There will be a special meeting of the Superintendents Association this evening and the matter will be decided definitely. Should Tuesday be accepted, John H. Commons, also a member of the commission, will also come and the subject of the evening's discussion will be the workings of the Workmen's Compensation Act. It is the idea of the Superintendents Association to ask the Industrial and Commercial Club to cooperate with them in the public meeting and to issue a public invitation for all workmen and others interested in the law to be present. The gathering will probably be in the City Hall.

The Superintendents Association are planning for a picnic up the river on Saturday afternoon, at which ball games and other sports will be indulged in. This will also be decided at the meeting to be held this evening.

SUFFRAGETTES WILL SPEAK AT CLINTON

Arrangements Have Been Made For Representatives of Political Equity League To Speak.

Clinton, July 28.—Miss Madeline Judd of Milwaukee was in town yesterday, representing the Political Equity League of Wisconsin, and arranged for three of their speakers to appear here and address our people on behalf of the bill granting the right of suffrage to women, which is to be submitted to the people at an election in 1912. The ladies will be here August 12. Either afternoon or evening, after appearing at the Delavan Lake Assembly. The ladies are noted public speakers, and are Miss Harriett Gilman of Chicago, and Mrs. Henrietta Lyman of Madison.

EXILES RETURN TO HOMES IN RUSSIA

Descendants of People Driven From Land 350 Years Ago Bring Back Appearance and Customs of Past Age.

Odessa, June 28.—Three hundred and fifty years ago a party of some hundreds of the Czar's subjects left Russia as voluntary exiles rather than submit to interference with their religious beliefs. Fifty odd returned to their native land bringing with them the language, garb and customs of three centuries and a half ago. The Russian Fathers in the streets of present-day Odessa would not look queerer than these returned exiles in the Russia of today.

The members of the original exiles party were Cossacks among whose beliefs was one to the effect that the writings of their names would jeopardize their chances of salvation by enabling anti-Christ to set his seal upon them. An attempt to enroll them in writing for military purposes was what drove them from Russia. Settling in Amstolla they increased in number until at present there are about 3,000 of them. During the whole of the 350 years of their exile they retained their identity wholly intact. Their language is a Russian dialect bearing the same relation to present-day Russian that the language of Chaucer does to modern English. They continue to wear the Russian dress of 350 years ago and have even cultivated vegetables needed to make the food of medieval Russia.

You Can Be Made Well if you will come to the Chiropractors.

Every disease known to mankind yields to Chiropractic adjustment. Chiropractic is a science of old truths the most wonderful aid to mankind in centuries. It analyzes and locates unerringly the physical cause of disease and provides a means of adjusting or removing the cause more promptly, radically and permanently than any other method known at the present time. These may seem bold statements to make, yet there is plenty of proof to back them up. If you are sick and suffering, if you have tried the medical profession and failed to be cured, come to us. 95% of the people that come to the Chiropractors get well and that in the face of the fact that 75% of these same people had been given up by the medical profession.

UNKNOWN MAN MEETS AWFUL DEATH NEAR THE C. & N. W. DEPOT

Horribly Mangled by An Engine at Northwestern Station About Noon
Today—Large Crowd Witnessed Accident.

Mangled and horribly ground beneath the wheels of an engine and several cars the body of an unknown man was taken from the tracks of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad at about 12:30 today before the eyes of many persons who were waiting at the Northwestern station to take their trains.

According to the reports of several bystanders, the man was crossing the tracks between the Pivo Points switch and the station platform as freight train 385 was coming past the switch toward the station.

When the engine was only a short distance from him, the man was seen to throw his hands into the air and fall forward across the track.

Whether he caught his foot on the rail and stumbled or voluntarily threw himself in front of the approaching engine will never be known as the pilot of the engine caught him before any of the many bystanders could offer any assistance and before he could call for help.

After being carried some distance on the point of the pilot the man fell beneath the wheels and was literally ground to pieces. Both legs were torn from the body at the hips and cut into pieces and the lower part of the abdomen badly mangled and the head was crushed to a pulp.

The features, however, were disfigured but slightly and seemed to show that the man was about twenty-eight or thirty years of age.

He was wearing a dark suit of coarse material and a black felt hat and beard of a few days' growth covered his face. No one seems to know who the man could be and nothing was found about his person to aid in identifying him.

At the time of the horrible accident there was a large crowd of people at the station waiting for their trains and among them were many women who were almost overcome by the awful sight.

Portions of the mangled remains were gathered from the track over a distance of about fifty feet where the man was ground and rolled beneath the wheels of the engine and several cars before the train could be brought to a stop.

The remains were taken to Nelson's undertaking establishment where a careful examination brought nothing to light to help in identifying the unfortunate man.

An Offering on Oxford That Every-one Should Take Advantage of.

It's always advisable to take advantage of every chance to save money that comes your way—that's the thrift. Now's the time to practice it. Here's your opportunity: We're making a clean up of all Ladies' Oxford, odds and ends. They're not all the latest styles, not right up-to-date in appearance but they have good wearing qualities. The tops are slightly narrower than fashion's latest decrees. These Oxford sold before for $2.50, $3.00 and $3.50. Tomorrow they sell for $1.45. Sizes 2 to 6, widths A, B and C. This price is effective in the morning only; from 8:00 a. m. to 12 m. Amos Rehberg Co.

PETITION IS BEING PASSED TO SECURE COMMISSION PLAN

Prof. Harry Davenport Circulating Petition for Special Election on Question of Government by Commissioners.

Prof. Harry Davenport of this city is circulating a petition about the city asking the mayor to call a special election to decide whether the city shall be ruled under the commission form of government as provided for under chapter 448 of the laws of 1909 as amended by chapter 357 of the session laws of 1911. In a week or so, the professor announces, a dozen or more of the petitions will be sent out through the city in the wards and down town districts, and he predicts that more than enough names will be procured to ensure the calling of a special election.

The law requires that in order to hold the special election the mayor must be presented with a petition signed by the voters of Janesville, the number of names required being twenty-five per cent of the full vote cast for mayor at the preceding election. In Janesville, it will require 676 signatures to the petition before the mayor may call the special election, the statutes requiring that the election be held within sixty days after the petition is presented to the mayor.

The law under which the commission form of government is operated at the present time has been changed since the passage of the law under which an attempt was made to secure the commission plan in Janesville two years ago.

Most of the objections then raised to government by commissioners instead of a mayor and common council have been removed through inclusion in the bill passed by the last legislature amending the original measure.

The recall, initiative, and referendum are included in the commission plan as it now stands and all cities, after trying it six years may return to their special charter government if they so desire. The board of fire and police commissioners, board of education and library board are in nowise affected by the adoption of the commission form.

Previous to the passage of the amendment of the bill, the legislature met as a committee of the whole and listened to arguments on the question. City Attorney H. L. Maxfield of this city, who is heartily in favor of the plan, was one of the number who spoke before the law-makers. The amendments urged by Mr. Maxfield were the objections raised when the subject was under discussion in this city. At a meeting of the Twilight club two years ago, Attorney F. C. Purpus, in a speech before the club, gave the arguments which formed the basis for the campaign in opposition to the commission form of government. These arguments with other objections found by Mr. Maxfield were presented to the state assemblymen and senators, the city attorney having appeared before the legislative committee of the Industrial and Commercial club of this city before going to Madison. These objections were largely adopted.

A new bill was also drafted by Mr. Maxfield and presented to Assemblyman Stearns of Milwaukee, chairman of the committee on cities and villages. From this draft and others received from other parts of the state, the new bill was made up.

The new bill lowers the salary of the mayor, under the commission form of government, from $3,000 per year to $2,500 annually, and the salary of the two other commissioners is lowered from $2,500 to $2,000 per annum.

The principal reason for Prof. Davenport's interest in the commission plan seems to be to do away with the present form of city government, especially the common council, against whom he seems to bear a grudge. At a meeting of the council a short time ago, an ordinance was introduced to make all chairboys, psychic mediums and others engaged in professions of that kind, to pay a license fee of ten dollars per day and the professor felt that the ordinance was directed against him. The measure was never passed by the council.

OBITUARY.

A. B. Manley.

Dr. A. B. Manley of Shopley, died at the hospital in that city at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Manley, who was a graduate of Beloit College and also of Rush Medical school, had lived and practiced in and around Shopley for 30 years.

Dr. Manley's death was very sudden, caused by appendicitis. His illness lasted only six days. He leaves to mourn him, besides his wife, three sons, Howard of Aberdeen, S. D., Guy of Madison, and Roy of Beloit. Also one brother, Jesse Manley of Elgin, Ill.

The funeral services will be held at Shopley on Saturday, at 2 o'clock, the body will be interred in the cemetery there.

H. S. Hazelton.

Hyatt S. Hazelton, secretary of the mining companies of the Pickands Mather & Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, a former resident of Janesville, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at the Union club in Cleveland. Heart failure was the cause assigned for his death. He was fifty years old.

Mr. Hazelton entered the club and went to the dining room on the third floor. He complained on the elevator of a pain in his head. Upon alighting a physician was called but before he could arrive Mr. Hazelton was dead. He had not mentioned being ill previously and death came as a severe shock.

The deceased was born in Janesville and spent his early days in this city, leaving here in his early twenties, some thirty years ago. He was the son of the late J. M. Hazelton, who held the position of city treasurer for a number of terms.

He leaves a widow and five children, a mother in Chicago, and one brother, Frank Hazelton of Chicago.

Frank C. Ludden.

The funeral of Frank C. Ludden, who died at his home in the town of Porter last Wednesday, will be held on Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock from St. Patrick's church. The body will be interred in Mt. Olivet cemetery. Mr. Ludden leaves to mourn his loss, besides his parents, two sisters, Mrs. William Bixen of Evansville, and Miss Mary Ludden of Porter.

"SEWER RAT" WAS SENT ON HIS WAY

Cripple Picked Up On Street, Was Given Nickname Because of His Utterly Filthy Condition.

Filthy in the utmost degree and in a state of semi-intoxication, a transient, who was nicknamed the "Sewer Rat," was brought in by the night officers early this morning and locked in the police station. The man, who is a cripple with one leg cut off just below the knee, and the other limb bent out of shape through an accident in which it was broken and never properly set, moves about in a half stooping position with the aid of a couple of sticks. The man's eyes were bleared with liquor, his clothes and body were dirty and all resemblance to a human being was almost lost. At that he had no desire to better his condition, although a chance to clean himself was offered, but preferred to remain in his sordid state. Asked as to where his home was the man replied, "Everywhere", and stated that he had not remained long in any one place, Chicago and the East are his destinations. He was shipped out of the city today.

WISCONSIN COMPANY SOLD ITS EXCHANGE AT ELKHORN

Elkhorn, Wis., July 27.—The Wisconsin Telephone Company has sold its Elkhorn exchange to the Elkhorn Independent Telephone Co. and retired from the field. The Elkhorn Independent ent company having over 500 phones while the Wisconsin company only about 100, the latter concluded to give the independent company a free field, and also give it a connection with the Bell toll lines.

Judge at Beloit: Municipal Judge Charles L. Fifield was in Beloit today occupying the Beloit municipal court bench for Judge C. D. Rosa in a civil case charging abusive language.

Concession People ATTENTION!

In preparation for the big motorcycle races to be held at the fair grounds on August 26, the committee in charge of arrangements is ready now to receive bids for concessions for the sale of refreshments, soft drinks, etc., on the grounds and in the grandstand. Prospective vendors are invited to present their bids on or before August 15. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check to cover one-third of the amount and the balance must be paid before the opening of the races.

In the event that rains will make it necessary to call off the races before noon of August 26, the checks will be returned to the bidders. All checks should be made out in favor of the Janesville Pleasure Park Association and sent to H. H. McDaniels, 122 Corn Exchange.

THREE STORES—Clothing, Shoes, Furnishings—ON THE BRIDGE

BOY SCOUTS WENT ON AN ALL-NIGHT TRIP; ALL HAD FINE TIME

Forty Boys Under Leadership of Capt. Jack Campbell Out at Crystal Springs Last Night.

Party of the Boy Scouts, in charge of Capt. Jack Campbell, started from the Court House Park yesterday afternoon at quarter to four and marched up the river for an all-night camping trip. Their route lay up the west river road as far as the four mile bridge, which they crossed, and then back along the east side of the river to Crystal Springs where they camped. At the Springs their tents were immediately pitched and military procedure begun.

Taught Camp Work. The boys carried their own tents along army fashion around their bodies, and as soon as they reached camp, Capt. Jack showed them the proper manner of pitching them. A campfire was built for cooking their supper, and while some of the scouts prepared the meal, others got wood for the fire and old stiffer chores, while still others mounted guard and patrolled their beats in regular army fashion. This patrolling was kept up throughout the night, each boy having two hours on duty. They were given a counterguard and no one was allowed to enter or leave the camp without giving the proper password.

Told About Navy Life. After supper, those scouts who were put on patrol duty, gathered around the fire and heard a talk on navy life by L. E. Bookout, who had gone up in the evening. They were told the routine of the sailor's life, his customs, and the management of our country's battleships. Mr. Bookout, who has served in the navy, was well able to answer their questions and his talk was very interesting. At eleven o'clock "taps" were blown, and everyone turned in until "reville" at quarter to five in the morning. However, the guards were posted all night long and sentries kept on duty. At "reville" the troop was lined up and roll call taken, and after breakfast the march to town was begun, the scouts arriving before seven.

Fun in Camp. Some difficulty and not a little fun was had by the boys who had never camped out before in getting their meals over the open fire. The grub was taken by the boys themselves in their knapsacks. Most of the scouts, of course, took the regulation bacon and hardtack, etc. When they tried to cook the bacon, if in the pan, the stuff smoked on burning; if on a stick over the fire, it invariably slid off. A trench was dug for baking potatoes and enough "spuds" for an army were dumped into the coals, but the boys got rid of them all. They had coffee, of course, for who could get along without it in camp? Most of them had some fruit along. Perhaps the food wasn't well cooked, or quite done, or had some dirt in it, but what was the difference as long as one was outdoors and hungry as he was?

Altogether, although they were pretty tired and didn't get much sleep, the boys had a great time and most of them will go again as soon as they have a chance.

NOTES FOR CITY FARMERS ONLY.

(By H. L. RANX.)

Never turn a mule with a sour disposition and a checked past into the same lot with a stand of honey bees, unless you want to start something by way of pasture. There is about as much soul communion between the mule and the bee as there is between the Brewers' Alliance and the Anti-Saloon League. As a usual thing the honey bee is as harmless as a one-legged man in a hook and ladder race, but when her passions are aroused she can fill the abutting property owner with more hole holes than a red cross nurse can putty up in a week. We once owned an inquisitive mule who used to go into the beehive chamber of the queen bee without sending up his card, and when we unlaced him from the cordial confines of the nearest barbed wire fence he was freckled with water blisters from his tail to his eyeballs. There is something about the stinging of an irritated honey bee which will linger in a man's memory like rubbing rock salt on a bleeding gum. The mule in question never saw a hive of bees after that experience without falling on all fours and offering up a low but fervent prayer. Segregate your mules and bees.

It has long been a wonder to us why some enterprising shoe manufacturers don't turn out a squeakless shoe for undertakers. We don't know of anything that will excite rivalry in the house of mourning quicker than the presence of a drop-headed undertaker in a $3.98 Prince Albert and a pair of fireproof shoes which squeak like a litter of rats at the dinner hour. The man who undertakes for a living and doesn't know any better than to wander around the premises in a pair of shoes with a squeak like a stricken guinea hen ought to have a little sense of propriety beaten into him by the sorrowing relatives. This is no way to curry favor with the deceased or his heirs and assigns. We need a law making it a penitentiary offense for undertakers to undertake in anything but six-ply felt boots.

SURPRISE PARTY GIVEN AT UP-RIVER COTTAGE

Miss Nellie Broderick Guest of Honor at Affair Given at Summer Cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Harry George.

A surprise party was given Wednesday at the up-river cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Harry George in honor of Miss Nellie Broderick of Milwaukee. The party was composed of twenty ladies who went up the river in a launch in the morning. A picnic dinner was served at noon. Five hundred furnished a pleasing diversion part of the afternoon. Mrs. D. Davy winning first prize and Mrs. James Clark second honors. The party returned to the city after dark.

WAR VETERANS PLAN FOR ANNUAL REUNION

Soldiers' and Sailors' Union Will Hold Sixteenth Annual Reunion in Janesville on August 9th.

On August 9th the Soldiers' and Sailors' Union of Rock county will hold their annual reunion in Janesville. They will meet in the morning at 11:00 o'clock in the U. A. hall on North Main street, and at 12:00 o'clock dinner will be served by the Women's Relief Corps.

In the afternoon the regular meeting of the Union will be held in the Assembly hall at two o'clock, the program for the meeting being:

1. Song by Mrs. Gertrude Winkler.
2. Invocation by Chaplain William Elsie Brown.
3. Recitation by Mrs. Lillian Marshall.
4. Address by Dr. Barton B. Bicklow of Racine.
5. Song by Mrs. Marshall.
6. Music by Mrs. Winkler.
7. Singing of "America" by whole audience.

The officers of the Union are J. F. Carlo, president; H. A. Babcock, L. M. Nelson, J. L. Bear and William Elsie Brown. The Union was organized in Evansville in 1895.

The officers of the union expected that there will be an attendance of about 200 or 300 persons, judging from the attendance in past years. There are posts at Edgerton, Milton, Clinton and Evansville, from which delegations will come, and besides these there are veterans who are not attached to any post who in all probability will come to the meeting. The Union extends a cordial invitation to all who can come and will welcome them to the meetings.

BROOKLYN.

Brooklyn, July 27.—A flock of very peculiar looking birds were seen on the E. M. Ames farm last week. The birds were of a grayish color with red heads and fan tails, and about as large as a brown leghorn rooster. They were rather tame, as some of them were seen in the dooryard and when chased did not try to fly, but hid in their tails. They ran like turkeys and made a noise similar to a turkey's gobble.

M. C. Karmgard took his son, Arthur, to Madison Tuesday, for an operation for the removal of tonsils and adenoids.

Mrs. L. C. Hoyt and baby of Lodi are visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hubner.

L. C. Lenz was ill the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Jones and little son, Francis, returned to their home in Fond du Lac Sunday.

A. G. Piller is taking his vacation; Miss Bertha Piller is acting as his substitute on the mail route.

Church services will be held as usual next Sunday.

Miss E. F. Hatch left Tuesday to spend a week in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Bird visited relatives in Madison Sunday.

Mrs. C. S. De Jean is spending a few days at Lake Waubesa.

Mrs. William Norton and her brother Charles Lechinger, visited friends in Belleville Monday.

NORTHWEST LA PRAIRIE.

Northwest La Prairie, July 27.—Mrs. Alice Wilcox of Racine, and Miss May Wilcox of Milton, were recent visitors at the home of R. E. Wilcox.

PLEASANT SURPRISE PARTY IN HONOR OF BIRTHDAY

Friends of William Kleinmiller in Evansville Reminded Him of His Birthday—Personal News.

(Special to this Gazette.)
Evansville, July 27.—About twenty-five friends of William Kleinmiller took a very pleasant method of reminding him that yesterday was the anniversary of his birth. Willie Mr. and Mrs. Kleinmiller were enjoying a ride in the early evening the company gathered at their home and in order that the couple might have no thinking of their presence no lights were turned on, and when they entered the house and found themselves surrounded by their friends their surprise can be more easily imagined than described.

A pleasant evening was spent and near midnight a lunch was served. After presenting Mr. Kleinmiller with a remembrance of the occasion and wishing him many happy returns of the day the guests departed, feeling that an event of this kind was among the things which make life worth while.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Well, you know Bobby can't row to the CITY grocery.

The Taming of Red Butte Western

By FRANCIS LYNDE

Copyright, 1911, by Charles Scribner's Sons.

"WHAT HAVE YOU DONE TO THAT MAN?"

his work at the final slowing of the wheels, saw the maddened lights of the Copah yards. Taking it for granted that Superintendent Leckhard had long since left his office in the Pacific Southwestern building, Lidgerwood gave orders to have his car placed on the station spur and went on with his work.

It was after midnight, when he had closed his desk and was taking a final pull at the short pipe which was his working companion, that the car door opened silently and he saw an apparition.

Standing in the doorway and groping with her hands held out before her as if she were blind was a woman. Her gown was the tawdry half dress of the dance halls, and the wrap over her bare shoulders was a gaudy imitation in colors of the Spanish mantle. Her head was without covering, and her hair, which was luxuriant, hung in disorder over her face. One glance at the eyes, fixed and staring, assured Lidgerwood instantly that he had to do with one who was either drunk, maddened or demented.

"Where is he?" the intruder asked in a throaty whisper, staring not at him, as Lidgerwood was quick to observe, but straight ahead at the portiere cutting off the stateroom corridor from the open compartment. And then: "I told you I would come, Rankin. I've been watching years and years for your car to come in. Look—I want you to see what you have made of me, you and that other man."

Lidgerwood sat perfectly still. It was quite evident that the woman did not see him. But his thoughts were busy. Though it was by little more than chance, he knew that Hallock's Christian name was Rankin, and instantly he recalled all that McCloskey had told him about the chief clerk's marital troubles. Was this poor painted wreck the woman who was or who had been Hallock's wife? The question had scarcely formulated itself before she began again.

"Why don't you answer me? Where are you?" she demanded in the same husky whisper. "You needn't hide, I know you are here. What have you done to that man? You said you would kill him. You promised me that, Rankin. Have you done it?"

Lidgerwood reached up cautiously behind him and slowly turned on the gas from the bracket desk lamp. Without wishing to pry deeper than he should into a thing which had all the earmarks of a tragedy he could not help feeling that he was on the verge of discoveries which might have an important bearing upon the mysterious problems centering in the chief clerk. And he was afraid the woman would see him.

But he was not permitted to make the discovery. The woman had taken on two or three steps into the car, still groping her way as if the brightly lighted interior were the darkest of caverns, when some one swung over the railing of the observation platform, and Superintendent Leckhard appeared at the open door. Without hesitation he entered and touched the woman on the shoulder. "Hello, Madge," he said, not unkindly. "You here again? It's pretty late for you to be out, isn't it? Better trot away and go to bed if you've got one to go to. He isn't here."

The woman put her hands to her face, and Lidgerwood saw that she was shaking as if with a sudden chill. Then she turned and darted away like a frightened animal. Leckhard was drawing a chair up to face Lidgerwood.

"Did she give you a turn?" he asked when Lidgerwood reached up and turned the desk lamp on full again. "Not exactly that, though it was certainly startling enough. I had no warning at all. When I looked up she was standing pretty nearly where she was when you came in. She didn't seem to see me at all, and she was talking crazily all the time to some one else—some one who isn't here."

"I know," said Leckhard. "She has done it before."

"Who is she trying to find?" asked Lidgerwood, wishing to have his suspicion either denied or confirmed. "Didn't she call him by name? She usually does. It's your chief clerk, Hallock. She is—or was—his wife. Haven't you heard the ghastly story yet?"

"No, and, Leckhard, I don't know that I care to hear it. It can't possibly concern me."

"There is another man mixed up in it—the man whom she is always asking if Hallock has killed. Curiously enough, she never names the other man, and there have been a good many guesses. I believe your head beller-maker, Gridley, has the most votes. He's been seen with her here now and then when he's on one of his 'periodicals.' By Jove, Lidgerwood, I don't envy you your job over yonder in the Red desert a little bit. But about the consolidation of the yards here, I got a telegram after I wired you making it necessary for me to go west on main line 27 early in the morning, so I stepped up to talk this yard business over with you tonight."

It was well along in the small hours when the roll of blue print maps was finally laid aside and Leckhard rose yawning. "Well, carry it out as you propose and divide the expense between the two divisions," he said in conclusion. "Frisbie has left it to us, and he will approve whatever we agree upon. Will you go up to the hotel with me or bunk down here?"

Lidgerwood said he would stay with his car, or, better still, now that the business for which he had come to Copah was dispatched, he would have the roundhouse night foreman call a Red Butte Western crew and go back to his desert.

CHAPTER XII.
THE PLEASURES.

THE freight wreck in the Crosswater hills, coming a fortnight after Hallock's arrest and deportation to Copah and the county jail, richly marked the close of the short armistice in the conflict between law and order.

Thirty-two boxes, gondolas and flats, racing down the Crosswater grades in the heart of a flawless, crystalline summer afternoon at the heels of Clay's big ten wheeler, suddenly left the steel as a unit to heap themselves in chaotic confusion upon the right of way and to round out the disaster at the moment of impact by exploding a shipment of giant powder somewhere in the midst of the debris.

Lidgerwood was on the western division when the news of the wreck reached Angels, wherefore it was not until the following morning that he was able to leave the headquarters station on the second wrecking train bringing the big 100 ton crane to reinforce McCloskey, who had been on the ground with the lighter clearing tackle for the better part of the night.

McCloskey's men were hard at work picking up what the fire had spared when Lidgerwood arrived. "Pretty clean sweep this time, eh, Mac?" was the superintendent's greeting when he had penetrated to the thick of things where McCloskey was toiling and sweating with his men.

"So clean that we get nothing much but scrap iron out of what's left," growled McCloskey, climbing out of the tangle of crushed cars and bent and twisted ironwork to stand beside Lidgerwood on the main line embankment. Then to the man who was making the snatch hitch for the next pull: "A little farther back, boys—farther yet, so she won't overbalance on you. That's about it. Now wig it."

"You seem to be getting along all right with the outfit, you've got," was Lidgerwood's comment. "If you can keep this up we may as well go back to Angels."

"No, don't!" protested the trainmaster. "We can snake out these scrap heaps after a fashion, but when it comes to resurrecting the 105—did you notice her as you came along? We kept the fire from getting to her, but she's dug herself into the ground like a dog after a woodchuck!"

Lidgerwood nodded. "I looked her over," he said. "If she'd had a little more time and another wheel turn or two to spare she might have disappeared entirely—like that swiveling engine you can't find."

"I gave you all the pointers I could find two weeks ago," said McCloskey. "Whenever you get ready to put Hallock under the hydraulic press you'll squeeze what you want to know out of him."

"This was coming to be an old subject and a sore one. The trainmaster still insisted that Hallock was the man who was planning the robberies and plotting the downfall of the Lidgerwood management, and he wanted to have the chief clerk systematically shadowed. And it was Lidgerwood's wholly groundless prepossession for Hallock that was still keeping him from turning the matter over to the company's legal department—this in spite of the growing accumulation of evidence all pointing to Hallock's treason. Subjected to a rigid cross examination, Judson had insisted that a part at least of his drunken recollection was real—that part identifying the roles of the two plotters in Cat Biggs' back room as those of Hallock and Hallock. Moreover, it was no longer debatable that the chief clerk was keeping in close touch with the discharged employees, for some purpose best known to himself, and latterly he had been dropping out of his office without notice, disappearing sometimes for a day at a time."

Lidgerwood was recalling the last of these disappearances when the second wrecking train came up to go into action. McCloskey shaded his eyes from the sun's glare and looked down the line.

"The fallen engine had to adjust the chain slings for the hitch. 'It's a pretty long reach, Fred,' said the superintendent. 'Going to try it from here?'"

"Best place," said the reticent one shortly. Lidgerwood was looking at his watch.

"Williams will be due here before long with a special from Copah. I don't want to hold him up," he remarked. "Thirty minutes?" inquired the draftsman without taking mind or eye off his problem.

"Oh, yes; forty or fifty, maybe." "All right; I'll be out of the way," was the quiet rejoinder.

"Yes, he will," was McCloskey's ironical comment when the draftsman had gone around to the other side of the great crane. "That crane won't pick up the 105 clear the way she's lying."

"Won't it?" said Lidgerwood. "That's where you are mistaken. It will pick up anything we have on the two divisions. It's the biggest and best there is made. How did you come to get a tool like that on the Red Butte Western?"

McCloskey grinned. "You don't know Gridley yet. He's a crank on good machinery. That crane was a clean steal."

"What?" "I mean it. It was ordered for one of the South American railroads and was on its way to the coast over the P. S. W. About the time it got as far as Copah we happened to have a mixup in our Copah yards with a ditched engine that Gridley couldn't pick up with the sixty ton crane we had on the ground. So he borrowed this one out of the P. S. W. yards, used it, liked it and kept it, sending our sixty-ton machine on to the South Americans in its place."

The Finding of the Book of the Law, 2 Chron. xxxiv:14-33.
Golden Text—Thy word have I hid in mine heart, that I might not sin against thee. Ps. cxli:11.

(1.) Verses 14-17—What book was it they found; what did it consist of, and who was its author?
(2.) What were they doing when they found this book of Moses?
(3.) What are we generally doing when we find our richest treasures of spiritual knowledge?

(4.) How could so important a book have been lost, or mislaid?
(5.) Was this probably the only copy of the book in existence?
(6.) Verses 18-19—What effect did the reading of this book of the law have upon the king?

(7.) What part of the book would be likely to produce such grief on the part of the king? (See Deut. xxviii et seq.)
(8.) What part of this book of the law which pertains to morals, is considered operative and binding today?
(9.) You will observe that there are many death penalties for breaches of the moral law. Why have these been abolished by Christian people?
(10.) Did Jesus abolish any of the laws of Moses and if so which? (See Matt. v:28-34, et seq.)
(11.) Why are some laws just and equal under certain circumstances while cruel and unjust under others?
(12.) What has been the effect of reading the Bible upon national and individual character?
(13.) Verses 20-21—If these people did not have the book of the law how did they know their duty, or how to worship?
(14.) Why was it necessary for the king to inquire further of the Lord when he now had the "law" in his hands?
(15.) If more light were needed why could not the king or Hilkiah, the priest, inquire of God direct?
(16.) How did the saints of God, who lived before Moses, find out the mind of God?
(17.) Why are the penalties of moral law as unyielding and certain as are the penalties of physical law?
(18.) Verses 22-25—Why is it that there are and always have been those who are sensitive to the voice of God, when the masses of even spiritual people are dull and unconcerned of it?

(19.) What is the reason for believing that all Christian people may cultivate the inward ear to discern the voice of God?
(20.) How many women of the Bible are there which excelled in spiritual power and influence?
(21.) When were these punishments inflicted upon Judah? (See 2 Chron. xxxvi:17-20.)
(22.) Verses 26-28—When a man repents of his sin does God always forgive him, and retain the penalty, or are there exceptions?
(23.) Verses 29-33—The entire nation seems to have repented at this time; did that keep them from being destroyed, and would it have prevented the final overthrow of the nation if they had not backslidden again?
(24.) This incident shows how much influence one man has who is thoroughly aroused. What practical lesson may we learn from it? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Jeremiah Tried and Acquitted, Jer. xxvi.

Rat Attacked Infant.
The story of a rat's ferocity comes from Aberdeen, Scotland, where an infant was attacked by the animal and badly bitten. A woman was awakened in the early morning by the screams of her five-week-old baby which was in bed beside her. On turning up the light she found blood on the baby's wrap, and on examining it was found that one of the child's fingers had been almost bitten through.

Men and Boys in Household Work.
The increasing employment of men and boys for domestic work is pointed to by some people as a significant sign of the times. In London, the papers of that town state, kids are being trained with conspicuous success to do daily work in houses and both as cooks and "housemaids" they leave the weaker sex far behind. Such, at least, is the testimony of the grateful housekeepers who employ them.
